VOLUME XIV. CHICAGO, MONDAY, APRIL 22, 1861. NUMBER 252.

A VIGOROUS METHOD.

Fort McHenry—a government work within two miles of the heart of Baltimore—is believed to be garrisoned with loyal men. It is a strong, well-built fortification and commands the city as effectually as if located on Monument Square. If the Secretary of War should say to the commander of the Fort that the next interruption of Government troops passing through Baltimore must be instantly followed by a shower of shells, the rowdies who govern that delectable place would be reduced to a realizing sense of their situation, and possibly might become Union men. That some such command must be given, or that the Government must consent to allow a powerful enemy between itself and its base of operations, is clear. We do not doubt that Baltimore will be properly and rigorously dealt with.

GOD BLESS MASSACHUSETTS!

Five regiments of stalwart men well armed and equipped, a battalion of Rifles and a company of Flying Artillery—the descendants of the heroes who fought at Lexington and conquered at Bunker Hill—sent to the field, most of them hundreds of miles from their homes, in six days! These are the "mudsills," the filthy operatives and small-fisted farmers, whom South Carolina and chivalrous Virginia were to awe into submission! God bless the old Commonwealth that is capable of such deeds, and the Governor by whom her energies are directed.

THE WONDERS OF A WEEK.

It is only one brief week since the lightning brought the sad news of the fall of Sumter, and the grevious insult to the national flag. The blow that felled the stars and stripes, blotted out partisanship, and united twenty million of freemen into a solid phalanx. A cry of vengeance rose over the land, to be placated only by the utter subjugation of the Constitution and the nation. A solemn vow to Heaven was taken by three millions of fighting men, that the parricides must be stricken down, and the damning insult atoned in blood.

What history has been made between two Sabbaths! One week ago the people seemed sunk in indifference, absorbed in pursuit of mammon, divided into partisan factions.

Behold the marvellous change seven days hath wrought! Could miracle do more? The world's history furnishes no sublimer manifestation of exalted patriotism, or more fervent devotion to liberty.

A war has begun, not of conquest and acquisition, but to defend the life of American Nationality, the supremacy of the law over anarchy, and the existence of our beneficent Government. Loyalty and treason will measure arms. The strength of Liberty and Union will be tried against despotism and secession. One or the other must perish by the sword. The Constitution of George Washington or the Constitution of Jeff. Davis must be the supreme law of the land.

We war not against the people of the South but against the enemies of the Union, wherever they may be found—whether in Chicago, Charleston, New Orleans or San Francisco. The place is nothing; it is the overt act, the deed of treason, the attempt at violent subversion of a peaceful and righteous government, that causes loyal men to put on their armor and go forth to smite the parricidal foe.

If a week has wrought such wonders, what will a year accomplish? Vox populi, vox Dei!

THE BLOCKADE.

The excitement created by the attack on the Massachusetts troops on their way through Baltimore has for the moment eclipsed before the public mind the most important move on the chess-board of war yet made. We refer to the President's proclamation ordering a blockade of all the seaports in seceded States.

The traitor Davis has issued his proclamation offering letters-of-marque, inviting all persons disposed to commit piracy, to seize and confiscate the mercantile ships and cargoes, the private property of loyal citizens. Lincoln promptly gave orders to blockade all the ports of the rebellious States, which are to be closed against every rebel seaboard town, and permit no more vessels, coastwise or ocean bound, to enter. The weight of this blow upon the insurgents can hardly be estimated. If the order be vigorously executed, grass will soon grow in the streets of Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, Galveston, New Orleans, and Baltimore, if she don't behave herself. All commerce and trade in these cities will cease. They will be literally suffocated to death. No more revenue will be collected at any secession port during the continuance of this war. All moneys must hereafter be raised by direct taxation or forced loans. The products of the South will be forced to seek interior routes to loyal ports; and what is more, the rebels from now forward will be able to purchase such articles only as the Government shall permit them to have. No more arms, ammunition or military munitions can be obtained North of Mason and Dixon. They will be put on short rations, unless they can eat their cotton seed. Hard times, heavy taxes, forced loans and hopeless prostration of trade, will press down upon the traitors. But these afflictions will be light, compared to some of the horrors of war which will overtake them. They have aroused a people slow to anger but terrible in their wrath, who will smite them until they ground the weapons of their rebellion, and return to their allegiance to the Constitution and the Union. There will be neither truce nor peace until this wicked rebellion is crushed. Jeff Davis and his desperate confederates will be made to rue the day on which they declared war against the private property of Northern citizens, and issued their piratical warrants to rovers. They will be taught that "peculiar property" on land, is as much exposed as shipand cargoes at sea.

Pittsburgh Arsenal.

The United States arsenal at Pittsburgh is turning out immense quantities of war-like material. A force of 400 men is at work night and day. There are 150 pieces of artillery of different calibre, and an immense quantity of shot, shell and ammunition. On Tuesday last, there were of small arms 1200 stand of rifle muskets, new model; 20,365 percussion muskets, old model, which were being rifled at the rate of 100 per day; and there were 1182 percussion rifles. There were 4,065 percussion pistols, one fourth of which are of the newest pattern. The greatest delay will be in getting the muskets sown ed into rifles. The exigency of the war may oblige the Government to issue many of them before the improvement is put on. It is satisfactory to know that the arsenal at Pittsburgh is now well supplied with weapons, and has such ample capacity for producing the medicine for the insurgents.

The War Spirit in Western Pennsylvania.

An Iron founder in Pittsburgh, Penn., writes to an Iron house in this city that "Old Pennsylvania is in a blaze. The business men in the Iron City have entirely suspended operations, and the attention of all is given wholly to war preparations. Traitors have to leave the city in hot haste, as every lamp-post is hung with a rope and noose at the end, with the striking motto of 'Death to Traitors' attached. There is a large home guard forming here, to be ready for a new call, and an active vigilance committee to watch for traitors and stop any arms, ammunition, or supplies for the rebels."

FROM SPRINGFIELD.

Regiments all Full, But Keep up Enrollment.

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

SPRINGFIELD, April 21, 1861.

Quarters here to-night for four thousand men.

Volunteers with full ranks, who are accepted, are requested to complete their organization and repair here immediately, with their arms.

Regiments are full, but keep up the enlistments.

MORE OF 'EM.—We are authorized to state that Zenas Cobb, Esq., is ready to give five hundred dollars to the Volunteers' Fund. Send in the names.

OUR WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

The failure to receive our special Washington dispatch or any other telegraphic advices from the Capital on Saturday night, suggests that the wires have been taken possession of by the mob in Baltimore, or cut at some point between there and Washington.

CAIRO—SOUTHERN ILLINOIS.

A private dispatch from Cairo yesterday informs us that everything is quiet there and the Union feeling overwhelmingly strong.

The Southern Illinoisan of Shawneetown has the following cheering intelligence:

BEING PREPARING FOR THE CONFLICT.—We hear that Capt. M. K. Lawler, an old veteran who led two companies from Gallatin county, and distinguished himself in the Mexican war, contemplates raising a company to aid in quelling the Southern rebellion against the Government.

We are informed that a company has been enrolled and organized in the neighboring county of White, and is ready to march Southward wherever called upon by the proper authorities.

The people of Southern Illinois are as a body steadfast in their devotion to the old Union, and will never consent to see the stars and stripes dishonored at the hands of traitors, either at home or abroad.

The German Democrats Say Yes.

We are permitted to print the following letter from BERNARD ARNTZEN, Esq., of Quincy, late Democratic candidate for Auditor of this State. It speaks in no uncertain tone:

QUINCY, April 19, 1861.

H. GREENEBAUM, Esq., Chicago:

My Dear Sir:—You will perceive from a paper that I send you, that I have taken my position upon the present political questions. I deemed it my duty to do so, and to let all my position be known at an early day, in order to encourage my Democratic friends throughout the State, and particularly our county, to stand by the Government for the time being their party animosities, and sustain the Flag and Government of our adopted country. You, as well as myself, have many friends in Chicago and this State, owe the same duty to yourself and to the country of your adoption. The late political events have proven that the principles assumed by us during the last campaign were correct, and our prophecies have proven too true. Let not party passions lead to the destruction of the Government.

I for one deem it my duty to sustain the Government in enforcing the laws, and shall follow on the flag of my adopted country, wherever it may send me.

Yours truly,

B. ARNTZEN.

NOTE FROM MR. GREENEBAUM.

Editors Chicago Tribune:

In asking you to publish the above letter of my friend Arntzen I desire to say that while I regret that extremities North and South have plunged the country into the present fearful crisis, I fully sustain the position now assumed by the administration, and endorse the sentiment that there can be but two parties now, patriots and traitors. My German fellow citizens have a special reason for patriotic devotion to the government of the United States, and, thank God, they are among the foremost to tender their services to that Government, and I am sure will give a good account of themselves.

As President of the German Society of this city, I would here say, that I will take especial care that the families of those who fight the battles of our country shall not suffer.

By the God of Israel, let treason be rebuked!

Respectfully, HENRY GREENEBAUM.

Secessionists and Traitors in Illinois.

Loyalty, like charity, should begin at home. If treason is preached or advocated on Illinois soil it must be put down and rooted out. There are nests of rank traitors in Southern Illinois who need looking after. The great majority of the people of Egypt, however, are true and loyal to the old flag. But Johnson and Union, and a few counties bordering on the river, secessionists are said to be in force and defiant.

The Jonesboro Gazette warmly sympathizes with the traitors. It can scarcely retain its joy over the news of the bombardment and fall of Fort Sumter. It says "that the news of the surrender of Fort Sumter was received with becoming features and expressions of joy by almost every one in Jonesboro."

The same tory sheet gives place to this item of news:

"THE NEWS AT VIENNA.—We learn that the news of the surrender of Sumter was received with great rejoicing by the people of Vienna, in our neighboring county of Johnson. The Secessionists were right out and fifteen shots fired in honor of a united South. Johnson is one of the most intensely Democratic counties in the Union, and her people are a secession port during the continuance of secession port during the continuance of this war. All moneys must hereafter be raised by direct taxation or forced loans. The products of the South will be forced to seek interior routes to loyal ports; and what is more, the rebels from now forward will be able to purchase such articles only as the Government shall permit them to have. No more arms, ammunition or military munitions can be obtained North of Mason and Dixon. They will be put on short rations, unless they can eat their cotton seed. BALTIMORE, April 20.—The Melville Bridge on the Northern Central Railroad, between Woodbury and Mt. Washington, has been burnt down. It is reported that the Northern soldiers are at the Relay House, on that Road. A bridge on the Northern Central Road and one on Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad are also gone.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—The 7th regiment of New York and the Massachusetts men are at Baltimore R. R. Depot. The cars are getting ready for the conveyance of the troops. A second despatch says they were to go by Railroad to Havre de Grace, thence by water to Annapolis, Maryland.

THIRD DISPATCH.

The Railroad bridge, three miles north of Baltimore is reported to be burning. All the bridges between Baltimore and Havre de Grace have been destroyed or rendered useless. The Pantheon train, due in Philadelphia at 11 o'clock this morning, has not yet arrived. The 7th Regiment of New York, and others, are still at the Baltimore depot.

BALTIMORE, April 19—Evening.—The Philadelphians, who, unequipped and unarmed, remained in the last car at the Station, were assailed with stones and other missiles, and some were slightly wounded. The train was taken back. Quite a number escaped to the city, but having no uniforms, were not recognized. The cars were then taken to and fro between here and Washington, in incorrect. It is understood that all reached Washington in safety, except Col. Hamilton Fish, Mr. Fiske and Mr. Meyer, and Mosea Grinnell at others. The Mayor announced that the Presidents of the Roads had promised, that they would bring no more troops here, and he ordered the assurance that any of the Railroad bridges are to be blown up to prevent the passage of trains.

PARTICULARS OF YESTERDAY'S COLLISION.

10 a.m.—Several companies of Massachusetts men, arrived at the depot without disembarking soldiers from the train. The several cars had horses attached and about nine were removed from the depot street to Canton station, the first six without creating disturbance. For some reason the horses attached to the 7th car were taken off at Pratt street depot, and the car moved without their aid to Canton.

A short distance from Pratt street depot, between Gay and Frederick streets, the horses were engaged in repairing the bed of the street and just at the moment when the car reached Gay street, were engaged in removing cobble stone—consequently the assembled crowd, after having followed the car from the depot, and with cheers for Jefferson Davis and the Southern Confederacy, and hisses for the Northern Black Republicans. This continued for several minutes, when, as the horses were again attached and the car moved off, it was followed by the crowd as before. Before the car had gone twenty yards, almost every window was broken, and a portion of the crowd followed a considerable distance from the car.

The eighth car was treated in the same manner, but the ninth car, apparently being empty, was allowed to pass on until the depot was broken. The crowd exulted in their work, exclaiming that Black Republicans should not pass through Maryland.

A large force of police succeeded, a number of respectable persons in the meanwhile urging the crowd to tear up the track. After the first train had passed, one was observed on the track, when stones and missiles were thrown in the way, and a portion of the track was taken up. Observing this, the cars were turned back to the Pratt street depot, and the men disembarked and prepared to march through the city. Mayor Brown, with a number of police, appeared at the depot, and led the way. They came along at a brisk pace, and on reaching Center Market, an immense concourse of people closed in behind them, and commenced hooting, yelling, etc. As they reached Gay street, where the track had been taken up, a large crowd of men arrived with paving stones, and commenced throwing them at the rear of the column. Several of the men were knocked down.

At the corner of South and Pratt streets, a man fired a pistol into the ranks of the militia, when those in the rear ranks immediately wheeled and fired upon their assailants, and several persons fell, one of whom is reported dead. Others that had fallen wounded were raised and fired upon the ranks with fatal effect in two or three instances. After this the column moved rapidly, succeeded in checking their pursuers by a rapid fire, which brought down two or three. When they reached Howard street, another large crowd was found, and more stones were thrown at them, but their guns were not loaded, and they passed on down Howard street to the depot.

It soon appeared that orders were given to clear the tracks near the Main Depot building. This was done, and soon after a large passenger car of the Philadelphia and Baltimore Road came up at a rapid rate, filled with the soldiers. This car was soon followed by about sixteen others, all filled by the gallant 6th. The military, in all eleven companies, bringing an aggregate of 580 men. As soon as the train arrived, some of the troops were compelled to fire a few shots in order to clear the way to the cars. But after consultation was allowed to proceed. [Martinsburg is nineteen miles this side of Harper's Ferry.]

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, April 19.—The Fifth Massachusetts Regiment is under arms and will probably leave for Washington by Monday next. It will number 1,000 men. The reports this afternoon from Baltimore cause painful excitement, but it is hoped that the accounts are exaggerated.

BOSTON, April 20.—This city was terribly excited last night and this morning, at the attack on the Massachusetts troops at Baltimore. The Governor recognizes the similarity in day and event, suggested by the 19th of April 1775, and the immortal memories which cluster around the men of Lexington and Concord. The Governor has sent the following dispatch to the Mayor of Baltimore:

I pray you cause the bodies of our Massachusetts soldiers, dead in battle, to be immediately laid out, preserved in ice and tenderly sent forward by express to me. All expenses will be paid by this commonwealth.

[Signed] JNO. A. ANDREW,
Gov. of Mass.

At Fall River last night a meeting of citizens was called on the reception of the news. Patriotic speeches were made and the city government was instructed to appropriate $10,000 to fit out volunteers and to pay each volunteer $20 per month in addition to the Government pay.

The meeting was opened by prayer. After the enlistment papers were of our prominent citizens, the Star Spangled Banner was pressed forward amid deafening applause, and the muster roll was rapidly filled.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 20.—Companies continue to arrive, and the army begins to look quite formidable. Great excitement has existed here relative to rumors that there is serious trouble at St. Louis, but private despatches assure us that there is no "war" there except upon the Illinois and Wisconsin carriage.

A gentleman direct from Memphis informs us that it is currently reported there, and believed, that Fort Pickens had fired upon the secessionists, who were making a military display on the beach, and that three hundred were killed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 20.—The six regiments required by the President are all full, and have been accepted by the Governor. He thinks that all other full companies will be accepted, pending recommend organization and perfection in drill.

QUINCY, Ill., April 20.—At a meeting of the Directors of the Quincy Savings Bank, at two o'clock this afternoon, the sum of $20,000 was tendered to the State as a loan to aid in putting it in a position for defence, and for supporting the National Government in the present crisis.

Private dispatches from Cairo represent that a secession Company of volunteers has been formed here, against which there is much indignation. They have sent to Memphis for assistance.

CAIRO, Ill., April 20.—The report that a military Company of secessionists occupy Cairo, is unfounded. No such Company has been formed.

CAIRO, Ill., April 20.—There is great excitement here. Business is much hindered. Our home guard is being increased for protection from thieves and marauders. Parties prepared a secession flag, yesterday, but were not permitted to raise it. Our people are strongly for the Union, and will fight under no other flag than the Star and Stripes.

Major Anderson attended the Union meeting to-day and was most enthusiastically cheered. He goes to Washington to night.

The Scott Life Guard, numbering 1,000 men, has proceeded to Governor's Island, New York harbor, where they will be drilled by Scott officers.

WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—About 150 of the Massachusetts soldiers are in the hospital, doing well, and in fine spirits. The steamer Farmer left last night with Government troops on board. There are whisperings among the military that martial law will soon be proclaimed here. The St. Nicholas, a steamer plying between Washington and Baltimore, was seized this morning for prudential purposes. There are about 5,000 men under arms at Washington and vicinity. Additional measures to guard the entrance of the city have been appointed, including the Railroad terminus.

DELAWARE.

The Union men in Delaware are in a bad fix, though the population is largely Union. All the State arms are in possession of the secessionists, transferred by the Governor, who has not responded to the requisition of the President, and will not. The Union men hope the Governor will take possession of the upper part of the State in order to secure the powder mills at Brandywine, at which the secessionists evidently lean.

WILMINGTON, Del. April 20.—The Council appropriated $8,000 to defend the city, and passed resolutions approving the Presidents proclamation, also asking the Governor to issue proclamation for the same purpose. The Brandywine bridges and all on that road between Susquehanna and Philadelphia are guarded while armed workmen have been sent to restore the bridges destroyed on the Northern Central road.

[Martinsburg is nineteen miles this side of Harper's Ferry.]

MONTGOMERY.

MONTGOMERY, April 19.—The demand for the loan of the Confederate States was so great that President Davis has determined to offer the whole $15,000,000. The amount already subscribed exceeds $15,000,000. The books were closed to-day, and the smallest sums had preference over the larger ones. [This is blowing.]

ILLINOIS TROOPS.

The six Illinois regiments are now full and will all be in camp by Tuesday. The Governor urges all companies not included in the accepted regiments to drill as fast as possible, and hold themselves in readiness for the next call, which may be expected in a short time.

Fort Pickens.

A rumor came hither from Springfield yesterday, that the insurgents had attacked Fort Pickens; that three hundred of them had been killed; and that the fort when the reporter left was still going on. We know of no sufficient authority for the story, and presume it is incorrect.

Excitement at Mayaville, Kentucky—Threatened Opposition to the Passage of Troops by River at that Point.

We learn by a gentleman direct from Maysville, Kentucky, last night, that there is an intense excitement at that place. The Secessionists were in the ascendant, and enraged at the passage of Portsmouth troops for this city, on the river steamers. It was known that a company was on board the Boatona coming down, and the Secessionists had planted five cannon on the wharf, six and eight pounders, with the purpose of firing into the boat. The scoundrels had endeavored to intimidate Capt. McClain, and induce him to stop passage to troops. He defied them, however, and they, hearing of the fight at Baltimore, were resolved to fire into his boat. Our informant left Maysville on a Pittsburgh boat at six o'clock. The Bostona was due at five o'clock, and half an hour after leaving, the passengers on the Pittsburgh boat were startled by the report of cannon, and quite an amount of powder. The arms are to be distributed in the counties adjoining.

ST. JOSEPH, April 20.—To-day the secession flag was unfurled and carried through the streets by a mounted company. After which it was raised on Market Square without disturbance or enthusiasm. Considerable excitement is manifest, and secession is the prevailing sentiment.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 20.—The Missourians seized the U. S. Arsenal at Liberty at 10 A. M., and garrisoned it with 100 men. There is an immense secession meeting here to-day. Troops are coming from adjoining Counties. Many secessionists from Missouri and Kansas were present. Prominent places were decorated with secession flags.

ARKANSAS.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKIE, April 20.—Another exciting meeting took place at the Chamber of Commerce to-day. The Baltimore news strikes to the heart of the people. Over $11,000 was subscribed by the Chamber of Commerce alone, for the benefit of the soldiers' families. The streets are thronged, and business hardly thought of.

SENOSHA, April 20.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings ever convened in this city, was held last evening. The meeting was called to raise funds which may be necessary for the families of the volunteers from this city. Short speeches were made, and a subscription taken up on the spot, amounting to $3,200. The most unbounded enthusiasm characterized the meeting. All parties evince a determination to stand by the Government to the last.

KANSAS.

It is stated there were 1300 stand of arms, 10 or 12 pieces of cannon, and quite an amount of powder. The arms are to be distributed in the counties adjoining.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 20.—There was great excitement in the harbor as Gov. Sprague and the Rhode Island Regimeat left on the Ariel this morning.

Archbishop Hughes suspended the Stars and Stripes over his dwelling. Some of the most eminent citizens, and also many gentlemen of foreign birth, are enlisting to defend the Union.

There is no communication with Baltimore or Washington to-night. Doubtless stopped by order of the Government. No fears for the safety of Washington.

TROY, April 21.—Gen. Wool leaves for New York, making it head-quarters of the department of the East.

PENNSYLVANIA.

HARRISBURG, April 20.—Gen. Keim and staff arrived to night to take charge of the Pennsylvania troops. Camp Curtin, (Refugee) is within 18 miles by carriage from Baltimore. Judge Wilmot accompanied him. Gov. Curtin has found five bridges destroyed on the Central Railroad. Sherman's and another battery have arrived here.

2,000 troops go by the midnight train to the first bridge en route for Baltimore on the Northern Central. They will be followed by 300 regulars, Sherman's Battery and two thousand volunteers.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, April 21.—Col. Fletcher Webster, a son of Daniel Webster, addressed a vast meeting in State street. It was intensely enthusiastic, and has raised a regiment to be commanded by himself.

In six hours Massachusetts has furnished five Regiments of Infantry, a Battalion of Rifles, and a Company of Flying Artillery.

Mayor Brown, of Baltimore, sent an answer to the Governor of Massachusetts, saying, "that owing to communications being stopped between here and Philadelphia, he cannot send the bodies of the men killed in the riot here; but shall embalm and keep them subject to your order. I, and the Governor, regret the affair as much as any one. Our people viewed it as an invasion. The authorities exerted themselves to the utmost to prevent it, but it was impossible. When are those scenes to cease? Are we to have war between us? Baltimore claims the right to pay all expenses."

MISSOURI.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 21.—There were only 150 muskets, nearly 300 rifles, and three cannon taken from the arsenal in Clay county, and they were only taken to protect the citizens from any roving bands of freebooters that may attack the country. A receipt was given for them, and they will be returned when demanded by the proper authorities. Other cannon and guns there were not taken.

From New York.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Business was suspended yesterday to attend the Union meeting. It was the largest meeting ever known in this city. Speeches were made by John A. Dix, Senator Baker, Robert J. Walker, Fernando Wood, Washington Hunt, John Cochrane, and many other. New York is an unit for the Union.

Where is Gen. Vallandigham—dam-ig-deshammer?

If an army marched from his "destrick," it was understood that the necessary steps must be over his dead body. We have not heard of his death—but the troops have marched from Dayton.—Cin. Com.

MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1861.

OUR MERCANTILE INTEREST.

Let the war be short. Care for the interests of trade and commerce, for the lives of those who will wage the battles on the side of the government, for the future loyalty of those who will be put down, and for the general prosperity of the Republic, demands that all the power and resources of the nation be promptly put forth for crushing the rebellion. Let there be no boy's play—no waiting for repentance, for a willing return to patriotism and duty, no sending of soda, no battles with squirt guns and buttered words. The men involved to sustain the supremacy of the law and to vindicate the majority of the Republic, must be called by the half million in a levy. The credit of our people must be strained to the uttermost to raise the means to equip them. The steam marine and clipper ships of the merchant service must be chartered or bought for Government uses. Arms and munitions, if our own arsenals will not furnish them in abundance, must be imported, cargo after cargo. Every port in the South must be blockaded; and wherever by land our army can be driven into the interior, there it should go. The trade of the rebels must be cut off by vigorous and effective means. Their exports must be stopped. "Eat your cotton, d—n you!" is the command that must be addressed to them by every Northern man—a command that every Northern man must be prepared to enforce. Vigor, and determination to put down treason at all hazards and at whatever cost, are half a victory. Sure, the combatants equally matched. With the immense preponderance of wealth, military resources and fighting men enlisted in support of the Government, they would close the contest in a short six months. The Administration will be compelled to abandon its ground, that there shall be no invasion of a State. That reticence of intention will not last thirty days. This is a war—not an emute, that a Sheriff and a Corporal's guard can suppress. The work will be earnest, and if greatly prolonged, the result doubtful. All the means legitimate in civilized warfare must be freely employed. If "necessary, to burn, kill and destroy, let there be no hesitation. Temporising is out of place, and, in the end, more destructive of life than vigorous and decisive measures. The great object to be attained, is a speedy and honorable peace by the restoration of Government authority. If it compass that, Charleston, New Orleans, Mobile or Baltimore must be sacrificed, let the sacrifice be made. If it be necessary to sweep Virginia with the besom of destruction, let no man hold his hand. If Maryland must be obliterated, the command to lay waste should be only a day ahead of its execution. Next to the hope of Heaven, the institutions of the country are the dearest of all considerations to every American. To preserve them from destruction by a mob in the service of anarchy, is a work worth any sacrifice on the part of the North and the shedding, if necessary, of rivers of blood. Strike hard, quick and with all the power of the Republic in their defence!

BLUNDERS OF THE REBELS.

Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." A frenzy has seized upon the insurgent leaders. Every step they take only fastens their own downfall and with it, destruction.

Look at the acts of the drama during the past fortnight:

I. The Federal Government loaded an unarmed merchant steamer with provisions for the relief of the starving garrison at Fort Sumter. It despatched an officer to Gov. Pickins notifying him of the peaceful purpose of the vessel. The messenger was made a prisoner of war; his dispatches for Anderson seized and read by the rebels.

II. Jeff Davis telegraphs that the supply vessel must not be permitted to land her food; and orders an immediate assault upon the Fort. Six batteries open fire with shot and shell upon the handful of United States troops. After thirty hours fighting the garrison surrenders, and the Castle falls into the hands of the traitors.

III. The echoes of the cannonade resound throughout the land. Astonishment is the first popular sensation; then consuming anger. The outrage upon the National honor is felt by every man as a personal indignity which must be attoned in blood.

IV. The rebels meet this manifestation of loyalty to the old flag by precipitating Virginia from her safe moorings in the Union into the bottomless quagmire of secession. Northern capitalists checkmate this move by knocking her public credit into a "cocked hat." In a single day she is converted into a bankrupt. Not a dollar can she hereafter raise save by forced loans. The disgrace of repudiation is upon the proud Old Dominion. The July interest upon her forty millions of public debt will be protested and unpaid; and meanwhile the war will be transferred to her own soil.

The fall of Sumter is the wand of enchantment which last Sunday night "transmuted twenty millions of partisans into patriots. The popular elements heave and rock as with an earthquake, and the great Northern heart, hitherto so calm and immovable, is lashed into a tempest of passion."

V. President Lincoln replies to Jeff Davis's order to bombard Sumter, by calling out 75,000 volunteers, to aid in putting down the rebellion and retaking the forts, arsenals and property belonging to the Government which have been seized and stolen by the Secessionists. The people of the loyal North respond to the call with marvellous, magic promptitude. Scarcely a week has elapsed since that proclamation issued from the White House, and already 300,000 brave men have sprung to arms. From Maine to Kansas the roll of the drum can be heard. And regiments are rushing to their rendezvous and to the National Capital, with all the speed of lightning express.

But of all the moves yet made by the rebels, the last one is the biggest blunder. Jeff Davis has issued his proclamation, inviting applications for letters of marque and reprisal. He has thus initiated the crime of declaring war upon the private property of the loyal citizens. He offers commissions to adventurers to seize and steal the merchant ships belonging to Northern citizens. This is simply piracy, and every person caught in the business will surely be hung to the nearest yard-arm, without delay or ceremony. Letters of marque and reprisal issued by Jeff Davis will not be recognized as valid by any nation on earth. No foreign State has recognized the independence of the Southern Confederacy, and until that be done by the great powers of Europe—England, France, Russia, Germany, Spain and Italy—all privateering will be treated as piracy—the punishing being death at the rope's end. A skipper sailing on such business would be no better off with Jeff Davis' warrant in his pocket than venturing on sea-robbery on his private account.

The rebels have taken an awful responsibility on themselves in thus proclaiming war and confiscation of private property. The "peculiar property" of the insurgents is so interwoven than the commerce and ships of loyal merchants. If the rebels are going to wage a warfare upon private property as such, they have only themselves to blame if the Government retaliates by confiscating the vast property of the rebels. This practice of the Southern Government invites John Brown episodes

They have opened a game at which two can play, as they may learn to the infinite sorrow. Jeff Davis on Thursday, the 18th of April, issued his proclamation offering letters of marque to seize and confiscate the private property of loyal citizens on the high seas. Old Abe "trumped in and took that trick," by issuing his proclamation on Friday, ordering the blockade of every rebel port on the Atlantic and Gulf, from Alexandria, Va., to Brownsville, Texas. And what is more, the order will be promptly obeyed. Hundreds of vessels of war will be instantly fitted out and despatched to the harbors of rebel seaports. Besides the regular government war vessels, scores of clipper ships and stout steamers will be chartered immediately by the Government, and sent to those insurgent ports where they will be anchored. By closing up the ports, the rebels will be struck a terrible blow, one which they are utterly powerless to repel. The loyal men command the sea. From this date until the end of the rebellion, no ship will be allowed to enter a rebel harbor. They are completely cutoff from all intercourse with the outer world. All their cotton and other products will hereafter find egress over the railroads and water courses of the interior which lead to the Eastern cities. This trade will compensate the loyal citizens in some measure, for the losses inflicted upon them by secession. Sin and iniquity bring their own punishment upon the guilty. The rebels will have to eat of their Dead Sea fruit, and drink from their own poisoned chalice.

SLAVE INSURRECTION.

Already we hear the dread notes of servile insurrection in the South. That which would have sent a shudder from Maine to California vibrating in every hamlet of the loyal States, one month ago, will occasion far different feelings now. Jeff. Davis's proclamation, inviting piracy upon the high seas, is surely as flagrant an act as ever was perpetrated on this continent. His invasion of Washington is the very essence of all damnable things. He and his fellow traitors have proclaimed far and wide the monstrous lie that Lincoln was raising an army to march South and turn the blacks to cutting their masters' throats. Now if the negroes take him at his own villainous falsehood, upon whose head rests the awful blame? Gentlemen secessionists, your unholy rebellion will reap the bitterest fruits ever tasted by traitors!

Far is it from us to exult in the prospect of servile insurrection. If only the men were involved in the catastrophe—the parricides who are seeking to pull down the temple of liberty—we should rejoice with exceeding great joy at the calamity impending. The war is of their making—why should not they feel its most condign consequences? The slaughter of the innocents is another and more painful question. Yet it is a principle of moral, no less than natural, philosophy that the iniquities of the fathers are visited equally upon the mothers and children. The vicious and drunken father transmits his diseases to his child and visits poverty and a bad name, if not shame and curses on both wife and child. The law is inexorable. Every man, woman and babe must experience the horrors of war when war is upon us. And if insurrection is added to the usual calamities of civil strife, the innocent must suffer with the guilty. There is no other way under heaven. Would to God there were!

The dread event is upon us. The All-seeing One can alone know the end of the affliction. While we deprecate that phase of the conflict which shall set four millions of imbruted negroes to fighting for their freedom, we must morowfully own that the catastrophe seems now overhanging the South. We can only repeat, They would have it so; they would have it so.

LIEUT. SLEMMER.

Our readers will regret to hear that the gallant Lieut. Slemmer, who saved Fort Pickens and Pensacola Bay from being seized by the enemy, has been superseded in his command by Major Tower, his superior in rank, sent thither with reinforcements. The Lieutenant's loyalty is unquestioned, and we should have been glad if he had been permitted to remain at the head of the troops detailed for the defence of the fortress which his promptness and heroism preserved to the Government. Maj. ZEALOUS B. TOWER, of the Engineers, under whom the Lieutenant will do good service, is a Massachusetts man, who will exercise his trust with unfaltering fidelity.

The Northwest in Arms.

[We continue to condense from our correspondence the items of the Great Uprising in the Northwest.]

ILLINOIS.

At FREEPORT on the 18th the whole male population turned out to a meeting in Flynnouth Hall, presided over by Hon. Isaac Brown, Esq., the editors of the Journal and Bulletin acting as Secretaries. Speeches were made by L. D. Atkins, C. Betts, Wm. Wagner (in German), Rev. Mr. Ravlin, Rev. Mr. Lead, U. D. Meachem, S. W. Field, S. Waterbury and Dr. McKine—all breathing the sentiment of the old Revolution. A muster roll headed by L. D. Atkins, (State's Attorney) was presented and forty men immediately enlisted. On the following morning the company was filled up. A second company was then started. A company of cavalry is organizing in the western part of Stephenson county. Our informant adds "We have no desire to outlive our Government." If that must fall, WE AND OUR CHILDREN WILL FALL WITH IT."

At MT. MORRIS, Ogle Co., on the 18th, the drums were beating and sightly drills had commenced. A large number of students in the Rock River Seminary have enlisted for the war.

At GALESBURG on the 18th, an immense meeting was held, presided over by Ex-Mayor Dunn. Enlistments are being made rapidly—the Common Council intending to vote funds for the support of families of volunteers.

At GALENA on the 18th, a large number of patriotic citizens enrolled as volunteers.

At QUINCY, the City Guards have already tendered their services to the Governor, and a Home Guard has been started, in which O. H. Browning, Abraham James, N. Bushnell, I. O. Woodruff, H. Asbury, J. C. Bernard, J. B. Gilpin and one hundred others have already enlisted.

IOWA.

At MT. VERNON, a military Company has been formed and offered its services to the Governor. Our informant, S. D. Mather says that Iowa will turn out 50,000 men if needed.

At IOWA CITY on the 18th, after an immense meeting, the Washington Guards enlisted and another company was commenced. Three thousand dollars was subscribed on the spot for the benefit of the families of volunteers.

From the South.

The following letter was written by a well known gentleman of this city who has lately been much in the Southern States. If not already at home, he is on his way here:

ON BOARD STEAMBOAT NEW ORLEANS, }
Lower Mississippi, April 18. }

The heavy rains on the upper rivers have so swollen the Mississippi that in many places as we pass along the river is already over the banks, and rising from six to ten inches a day. It is within two and one half feet as high as in the great freshet of 1858. Already it has done much damage below Memphis, and they expect the injury will be very much greater this week.

You cannot judge of the consternation among all classes, at Lincoln's proclamation. The worst horrors of the worst civil war rises them in the face. At Memphis, yesterday, the feeling was all one way—"Home Protection and full and immediate secession."

The eastern part of Tennessee is strongly for the Union, and may have sufficient strength to control the action of the State; yet it is not safe to think of it. The chances are that all the Border Slave States will go out of the Union, at the earliest moment practicable. Whether they will form a central confederacy or join the South, depends very much upon the course of Virginia. All are anxious to hear the final action of her Convention.

The war news has certainly incited the whole Southern community to the point of all united resistance. Even the Unionists will take new Government, course. By the sword, they say, all their grievances must now be settled.

I do not think they have yet mustered one good regiment of soldiers. Many dissipated, reckless young men, and young men out of employment, have enlisted and gone to Fort Pickens. Of sturdy, able-bodied men, I have seen very few in the Southern ranks, and I am told that daily large numbers are deserting the regular army. While the excitement lasts, they hold on; but when that has worn off, they care not for the oath they took when enlisted. With all the reports of companies going to Pensacola, the army there now numbers only about four thousand men.

Insurrections among the negroes are of frequent occurrence—different from what was the case when I passed through here last February. A planter ordering revolvers at Memphis to protect his family says he has had a terrible uprising of his negroes, but that he had succeeded in putting it down, and should hang at once the ring leaders.

I have sent you several papers giving the Memphis markets; but I would not dare make any shipments to any Southern point just now. Until the excitement passes off there is no necessity for anything. "Necessity knows no law" is now their motto. At Memphis yesterday they contemplated stopping a steamboat, and forcibly taking from her some ammunition and cannon for the defence of the city. They said "we'll take the arms now, and settle with the owners after the war." You would be utterly surprised at the want of moral obligation felt by all Southerners at this time. Hardly a man has the slightest particle of honor about paying debts, and forced collections are impossible. One firm told me they had $60,000 due them from good planters in Northern Mississippi, but could not depend upon a single dollar of it to meet current liabilities—although the whole amount was due, and in good times would be promptly paid. These same planters have sold their cotton—pocketed the gold—and now tell their creditors to whistle for their money and get it if they can.

With many things in the South, I am perfectly disgusted. With my present feelings, I would not live among them for a fortune.

PERSONAL.

Nathaniel J. Bowditch, an eminent citizen of Boston, died in that city on the 16th inst., aged 56.

—The Rhode Island Regiment will be under the command of Gen. Burnside, formerly of this city, with Brigadier Gen. Pitman as Lieut. Colonel, and Col. John S. Slocum as Major. Gen. Burnside is an old army officer, and Pitman and Slocum are both Mexican war heroes.

—Hon. Charles H. Larrabee, formerly member of Congress, and Hon. G. Clark, a member of the Assembly from Grant County, Wisconsin, are in the field for the defence of their country, the former as a private, and the latter in command of a company.

—Maj. Bagnall, an old English army officer of Milwaukee, has offered his services to the Administration, and will be accepted.

—Com. Vanderbilt informs the New York Tribune reporter that his steamships are at the disposal of the Government.

—A sister of Gen. Beauregard, commander of the Charleston (South Carolina) forces, is now in New York. Her present residence is at No. 1 Union Place, where she has resided for several months. Two of her sons are doing business in the city.

—The gossip is that Jenny Lind lives unhappily with her husband. Otto is "a brute," it seems, makes his wife unhappy, is given, perhaps, to ardent spirits instead of domestic attachment, and so Jenny, to forget her sorrows, will return to the operatic stage, selecting a London theatre for her reappearance.

—Five printers in the office of the Lafayette (Ind.) Courier have enlisted for the war. Among the number is John Desha Simpson, a nephew of the gallant Major Anderson. Three more are ready to start upon the word go! The Courier makes a sorry appearance in the way of reading matter.

—Our patriotic fellow-citizen, Almon Calkins, Esq., proposes to enlist a company of mounted men, consisting of forty. He offers to every man who will enlist to serve during the war, under his command or under the command of a captain to be elected by the company, a bounty of one village lot in his addition to the city of Janesville. This is a very generous offer, and is another evidence of the devotion of all classes of our community to the country in the present crisis. We are pleased to learn that Capt. C. G. Gillett has tendered his services as captain of this company.—Janesville Gazette.

Stop It!

The Troy Daily Times has the following caution to traitors who are manufacturing Northern arms for Southern rebels. The Times says:

"Certain Northern manufacturers have been at work all winter in executing orders for war material for Southern traitors. It is reported and believed that many thousand dollars' worth of this work has been turned out of Troy and its vicinity. It is said that even now an establishment here is busy day and night in manufacturing bullet moulders for the enemy. We sincerely hope this latter report is untrue. But if it is a fact, notice should at once be given to the proper authority for our authorities that the work must stop. No more of this business can be permitted; the act is treason. Let there be no mob demonstrations, but let a firm, loyal policy be pursued in this case. If the report implicating a manufacturer here is untrue, he owes it to himself and to this community, as well as to the noble Government under which he lives, to vindicate himself from the injurious charge."

Cincinnati a Military Encampment.

Not less than ten thousand men must have been drilling in this city last night. The excitement increases daily, and all classes are determined to fight if necessary, for the preservation of the Union, and to wipe out the disgrace offered to our flag in the attack on Ft. Sumter.

The war spirit reached an unprecedented height in the city last night. The proclamations of the companies that leave for Columbus to-morrow, numbered ten extraordinary yells at the moment. They were drilling in all the city places. Everybody is marching in military style—heads up, toes out, little fingers at the seams. They are consulting physicians to see if they have constitutions that will stand the hardships of a campaign. Some of them have opened a game at which two can play, as they may learn to the infinite sorrow. Jeff Davis on Thursday, the 18th of April, issued his proclamation offering letters of marque to seize and confiscate the private property of loyal citizens on the high seas. Old Abe "trumped in and took that trick," by issuing his proclamation on Friday, ordering the blockade of every rebel port on the Atlantic and Gulf, from Alexandria, Va., to Brownsville, Texas. And what is more, the order will be promptly obeyed. Hundreds of vessels of war will be instantly fitted out and despatched to the harbors of rebel seaports. Besides the regular government war vessels, scores of clipper ships and stout steamers will be chartered immediately by the Government, and sent to those insurgent ports where they will be anchored. By closing up the ports, the rebels will be struck a terrible blow, one which they are utterly powerless to repel. The loyal men command the sea. From this date until the end of the rebellion, no ship will be allowed to enter a rebel harbor. They are completely cutoff from all intercourse with the outer world. All their cotton and other products will hereafter find egress over the railroads and water courses of the interior which lead to the Eastern cities. This trade will compensate the loyal citizens in some measure, for the losses inflicted upon them by secession. Sin and iniquity bring their own punishment upon the guilty. The rebels will have to eat of their Dead Sea fruit, and drink from their own poisoned chalice.

SLAVE INSURRECTION.

Already we hear the dread notes of servile insurrection in the South. That which would have sent a shudder from Maine to California vibrating in every hamlet of the loyal States, one month ago, will occasion far different feelings now. Jeff. Davis's proclamation, inviting piracy upon the high seas, is surely as flagrant an act as ever was perpetrated on this continent. His invasion of Washington is the very essence of all damnable things. He and his fellow traitors have proclaimed far and wide the monstrous lie that Lincoln was raising an army to march South and turn the blacks to cutting their masters' throats. Now if the negroes take him at his own villainous falsehood, upon whose head rests the awful blame? Gentlemen secessionists, your unholy rebellion will reap the bitterest fruits ever tasted by traitors!

Far is it from us to exult in the prospect of servile insurrection. If only the men were involved in the catastrophe—the parricides who are seeking to pull down the temple of liberty—we should rejoice with exceeding great joy at the calamity impending. The war is of their making—why should not they feel its most condign consequences? The slaughter of the innocents is another and more painful question. Yet it is a principle of moral, no less than natural, philosophy that the iniquities of the fathers are visited equally upon the mothers and children. The vicious and drunken father transmits his diseases to his child and visits poverty and a bad name, if not shame and curses on both wife and child. The law is inexorable. Every man, woman and babe must experience the horrors of war when war is upon us. And if insurrection is added to the usual calamities of civil strife, the innocent must suffer with the guilty. There is no other way under heaven. Would to God there were!

The dread event is upon us. The All-seeing One can alone know the end of the affliction. While we deprecate that phase of the conflict which shall set four millions of imbruted negroes to fighting for their freedom, we must morowfully own that the catastrophe seems now overhanging the South. We can only repeat, They would have it so; they would have it so.

LIEUT. SLEMMER.

Our readers will regret to hear that the gallant Lieut. Slemmer, who saved Fort Pickens and Pensacola Bay from being seized by the enemy, has been superseded in his command by Major Tower, his superior in rank, sent thither with reinforcements. The Lieutenant's loyalty is unquestioned, and we should have been glad if he had been permitted to remain at the head of the troops detailed for the defence of the fortress which his promptness and heroism preserved to the Government. Maj. ZEALOUS B. TOWER, of the Engineers, under whom the Lieutenant will do good service, is a Massachusetts man, who will exercise his trust with unfaltering fidelity.

The Northwest in Arms.

ILLINOIS.

At FREEPORT on the 18th the whole male population turned out to a meeting in Flynnouth Hall, presided over by Hon. Isaac Brown, Esq., the editors of the Journal and Bulletin acting as Secretaries. Speeches were made by L. D. Atkins, C. Betts, Wm. Wagner (in German), Rev. Mr. Ravlin, Rev. Mr. Lead, U. D. Meachem, S. W. Field, S. Waterbury and Dr. McKine—all breathing the sentiment of the old Revolution. A muster roll headed by L. D. Atkins, (State's Attorney) was presented and forty men immediately enlisted. On the following morning the company was filled up. A second company was then started. A company of cavalry is organizing in the western part of Stephenson county. Our informant adds "We have no desire to outlive our Government." If that must fall, WE AND OUR CHILDREN WILL FALL WITH IT."

At MT. MORRIS, Ogle Co., on the 18th, the drums were beating and sightly drills had commenced. A large number of students in the Rock River Seminary have enlisted for the war.

At GALESBURG on the 18th, an immense meeting was held, presided over by Ex-Mayor Dunn. Enlistments are being made rapidly—the Common Council intending to vote funds for the support of families of volunteers.

At GALENA on the 18th, a large number of patriotic citizens enrolled as volunteers.

At QUINCY, the City Guards have already tendered their services to the Governor, and a Home Guard has been started, in which O. H. Browning, Abraham James, N. Bushnell, I. O. Woodruff, H. Asbury, J. C. Bernard, J. B. Gilpin and one hundred others have already enlisted.

IOWA.

At MT. VERNON, a military Company has been formed and offered its services to the Governor. Our informant, S. D. Mather says that Iowa will turn out 50,000 men if needed.

At IOWA CITY on the 18th, after an immense meeting, the Washington Guards enlisted and another company was commenced. Three thousand dollars was subscribed on the spot for the benefit of the families of volunteers.

From the South.

The following letter was written by a well known gentleman of this city who has lately been much in the Southern States. If not already at home, he is on his way here:

ON BOARD STEAMBOAT NEW ORLEANS, }
Lower Mississippi, April 18. }

The heavy rains on the upper rivers have so swollen the Mississippi that in many places as we pass along the river is already over the banks, and rising from six to ten inches a day. It is within two and one half feet as high as in the great freshet of 1858. Already it has done much damage below Memphis, and they expect the injury will be very much greater this week.

You cannot judge of the consternation among all classes, at Lincoln's proclamation. The worst horrors of the worst civil war rises them in the face. At Memphis, yesterday, the feeling was all one way—"Home Protection and full and immediate secession."

The eastern part of Tennessee is strongly for the Union, and may have sufficient strength to control the action of the State; yet it is not safe to think of it. The chances are that all the Border Slave States will go out of the Union, at the earliest moment practicable. Whether they will form a central confederacy or join the South, depends very much upon the course of Virginia. All are anxious to hear the final action of her Convention.

The war news has certainly incited the whole Southern community to the point of all united resistance. Even the Unionists will take new Government, course. By the sword, they say, all their grievances must now be settled.

I do not think they have yet mustered one good regiment of soldiers. Many dissipated, reckless young men, and young men out of employment, have enlisted and gone to Fort Pickens. Of sturdy, able-bodied men, I have seen very few in the Southern ranks, and I am told that daily large numbers are deserting the regular army. While the excitement lasts, they hold on; but when that has worn off, they care not for the oath they took when enlisted. With all the reports of companies going to Pensacola, the army there now numbers only about four thousand men.

Insurrections among the negroes are of frequent occurrence—different from what was the case when I passed through here last February. A planter ordering revolvers at Memphis to protect his family says he has had a terrible uprising of his negroes, but that he had succeeded in putting it down, and should hang at once the ring leaders.

I have sent you several papers giving the Memphis markets; but I would not dare make any shipments to any Southern point just now. Until the excitement passes off there is no necessity for anything. "Necessity knows no law" is now their motto. At Memphis yesterday they contemplated stopping a steamboat, and forcibly taking from her some ammunition and cannon for the defence of the city. They said "we'll take the arms now, and settle with the owners after the war." You would be utterly surprised at the want of moral obligation felt by all Southerners at this time. Hardly a man has the slightest particle of honor about paying debts, and forced collections are impossible. One firm told me they had $60,000 due them from good planters in Northern Mississippi, but could not depend upon a single dollar of it to meet current liabilities—although the whole amount was due, and in good times would be promptly paid. These same planters have sold their cotton—pocketed the gold—and now tell their creditors to whistle for their money and get it if they can.

With many things in the South, I am perfectly disgusted. With my present feelings, I would not live among them for a fortune.

—Hon. Charles H. Larrabee, formerly member of Congress, and Hon. G. Clark, a member of the Assembly from Grant County, Wisconsin, are in the field for the defence of their country, the former as a private, and the latter in command of a company.

—The gossip is that Jenny Lind lives unhappily with her husband. Otto is "a brute," it seems, makes his wife unhappy, is given, perhaps, to ardent spirits instead of domestic attachment, and so Jenny, to forget her sorrows, will return to the operatic stage, selecting a London theatre for her reappearance.

—Five printers in the office of the Lafayette (Ind.) Courier have enlisted for the war. Among the number is John Desha Simpson, a nephew of the gallant Major Anderson. Three more are ready to start upon the word go! The Courier makes a sorry appearance in the way of reading matter.

—Our patriotic fellow-citizen, Almon Calkins, Esq., proposes to enlist a company of mounted men, consisting of forty. He offers to every man who will enlist to serve during the war, under his command or under the command of a captain to be elected by the company, a bounty of one village lot in his addition to the city of Janesville. This is a very generous offer, and is another evidence of the devotion of all classes of our community to the country in the present crisis. We are pleased to learn that Capt. C. G. Gillett has tendered his services as captain of this company.—Janesville Gazette.

Stop It!

The Troy Daily Times has the following caution to traitors who are manufacturing Northern arms for Southern rebels. The Times says:

"Certain Northern manufacturers have been at work all winter in executing orders for war material for Southern traitors. It is reported and believed that many thousand dollars' worth of this work has been turned out of Troy and its vicinity. It is said that even now an establishment here is busy day and night in manufacturing bullet moulders for the enemy. We sincerely hope this latter report is untrue. But if it is a fact, notice should at once be given to the proper authority for our authorities that the work must stop. No more of this business can be permitted; the act is treason. Let there be no mob demonstrations, but let a firm, loyal policy be pursued in this case. If the report implicating a manufacturer here is untrue, he owes it to himself and to this community, as well as to the noble Government under which he lives, to vindicate himself from the injurious charge."

Cincinnati a Military Encampment.

Not less than ten thousand men must have been drilling in this city last night. The excitement increases daily, and all classes are determined to fight if necessary, for the preservation of the Union, and to wipe out the disgrace offered to our flag in the attack on Ft. Sumter.

The war spirit reached an unprecedented height in the city last night. The proclamations of the companies that leave for Columbus to-morrow, numbered ten extraordinary yells at the moment. A BOSTON LETTER.

The War and its Excitement—Pennsylvania and its Gallantry—Massachusetts and South Carolina—Effect on Business.

[Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.]

BOSTON, April 18, 1861.

"THE HUB" is full of excitement and aglow with patriotic ardor. After all, talk as we may about cant and fanaticism, Massachusetts and South Carolina are the only institutions in this country that really amount to anything of themselves. They always will lead, and always have lead public sentiment. In the revolution, Massachusetts was all rebel, and South Carolina headed the tories, and since that day each has been the leading State of its own section. The citizens of Boston are now full of military. They have come in from the country around. Many of the companies appear with their ranks literally full; all of them are on hand without delay; in some cases the troops were collected between the receipt of the President's dispatch in the evening and the first train into Boston the next morning, and in one case this was done when the members of the company lived in a circuit of seven miles. In all cases there have been but a few moments for leave-taking. The enthusiasm of all classes is at its height. A clerk in the Suffolk Bank, when told that his company to go with the regiment, was presented with a heavy purse by his fellow clerks, and the bank paid his salary in advance. A merchant on Milk street has offered to continue the salaries of any of his clerks who wish to go to the war. An Irish regiment of 1,000 men have been pledged. Several lawyers and one minister have enlisted. Gen. Benj. F. Butler, who was a member of the Charleston Convention, and told the Southerners that he came from Massachusetts, where a man could speak his mind without fear of being burned at the stake, is to command the Massachusetts troops. He was the Breckinridge candidate for Governor. The Boston Post, the ablest Democratic paper in New England or any other part of the country, sustains the Federal Government with a most genuine and hearty support. The Boston Herald, which has vast influence among the masses, does the same. The Courier alone sympathises with the Southern rebels.

Several hundred, I do not recollect how many, of the troops marched through the streets just now on their way to the cars for New York. They marched from the State House through Tremont and Court streets and by the Cradle of Liberty. Around every foot of their way clustered Revolutionary memories, which made the hearts of all beat high with excitement. How much meaning there is in every click and stamp of the drum, when brought to our minds by the terrible realities of the present. So long as Faneuil Hall was merely a tradition of war in a peaceful country, it was much the same as any other building, but when the mercenary of the State, whose stalwart forms and brawny faces and hard, bony hands mark their character, are passing in military array, armed and equipped, over the pavement of State street, the real meaning of Faneuil Hall starts forth in fresh and strong and earnest as it did seventy years ago. That meaning will be made apparent to those, who, uniform unsolicited for themselves, cannot make it out without help, in terms so unmistakable that the lesson will last, instead of seventy, I hope, seven hundred years. It is impossible that any one now in business is going to be affected by this war excitement, but as a general thing,

ESTORATIVE CORDIAL

AND

BLOOD RENOVATOR

Is Precisely What its Name Indicates,

The following is part of a business letter; its testimony, though accompanying to the vital power, is written, flattering and renews the blood in a manner unknown to other remedies, and is worthy the attention of all who are afflicted with any disease of the blood, as to be within the reach of all. Its wonderful and truly marvelous cures have established its merits, and yet so perfectly adapted to the wants of the human system, that the leaves of its bottles are not sufficient for the greatest thanks of the grateful recipients, and why all nervous and debilitated persons will not try it, is a mystery to us, as it is so purely vegetable, and so harmless in its effects, and yet it is a powerful curative.

A compound entirely of vegetables, and those chemically combining powerful tonic and nourishing properties, and thus renewing and giving health and vitality to the blood.

Restorative Cordial.

The experience of thousands proves that no preparation ever before offered to the public has imparted of the vital energy, as has this compound. It has the power to positively curative in each of the following complaints:

DYSPEPSIA, DYSPEPSIA, LOSS OF APPETITE PAINTINESS, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, LANGUOR, GIDDINESS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

And all that class of diseases so fearfully fatal, called humor's, abscesses and irregularities.

THERE IS NOTHING EQUAL!

Kidney Diseases, Liver derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys, or any general derangement of the System.

It will not only cure the debility following CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from malaria, miasma, and cure the diseases at once.

EVERY family should have a bottle with them, as it will prove a safeguard against the numerous casualties to which they are liable, and a timely application of it may save many times its cost.

The BLOOD RENOVATOR is a certain cure for all diseases of the blood, and every one is a living witness to its virtues. Its curative powers are unequaled, and its effects are speedy and permanent. Its testimonials are unquestionable, and should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

Those who have not used it, for it is a perfect relief, after a month or two under the final trial, she will be found to be a perfect restorative, and a blessing to mankind.

THERE IS NO MISTAKE ABOUT IT

The Cordial is all we claim for it!!

MOTHERS, TRY IT.

And to you we appeal, to detect the illness or destitution of your sons and husbands; if in the west, from your sons and husbands; for while the Y rose, your sons and husbands have been to a great extent deserters, rather than let their condition be known to you, and if they have often pulled up with the sensation of freedom, that if it were not for you, they too would be deserters, and if you can by your love and tenderness restore them to their former health, you will be amply rewarded.

MONROE, Ohio, Nov. 20, 1860.

PROF. G. J. WOOD—DEAR SIR: Permit me to inform you that your Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator has proved a wonderful success in my family. I have used it in my family for two years, and have never tried almost every method to get relief, and have found but very few that would do me any good. I was induced to try your remedies by reading your circulars, and I am happy to say that I have taken it, and it has greatly helped me. I believe to get some more, if you please.

Your obedient servant,
REV. F. WHITLOCK.

THIS every one, no matter how low and how much they have suffered, everywhere almost testify to the truth of the statement, that in no case of CHILLS AND FEVER WAS FAILED TO CURE. Long standing cases, where the system was thoroughly saturated with the poison of MALARIA, and where it would seem impossible to expel it, it will cure for, as well and more permanently than others will have you from suffering and premature grave.

Read the following letter, just received:

MR. WING, Jr., Buffalo, N. Y.—I purchased of Mr. Wood, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a bottle of his Restorative Cordial and found myself entirely relieved of a disease of the liver, which had troubled me for several months, and pain in the side. I want one bottle more, and shall be cured. I have not had any pain in the side and distress in the stomach since I commenced taking it.

Yours truly,
JOHN HARRIS.

PROF. WOOD—DEAR SIR: Allow me to express to you my gratitude for the benefit I have received from the use of your Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator. PROF. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR.

This newly-invented Cordial has already been hailed by the medical profession of St. Louis, as the most wonderful preparation ever offered to the public.

Its wonderful effects upon the qualities of a vitiated blood are truly astonishing. Several bottles are sufficient to cure the worst case. A dram of one to two teaspoonfuls is sufficient for a dose, and can be taken by any one, no matter what may be the state of the stomach. Its effects are magical, and as there is necessarily none of the nauseous drugs in it, it can be taken by the most delicate without fear, as it is composed entirely of vegetable matter.

Whoever need be in no uncertainty as to the virtues of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator, for they are fully endorsed by the most eminent physicians of St. Louis, as the most wonderful discovery of the age.

Price, $1 per bottle, and $5 per half dozen.

The Cordial is all we claim for it!!

MOTHERS, TRY IT.

And to you we appeal, to detect the illness or destitution of your sons and husbands; if in the west, from your sons and husbands; for while the Y rose, your sons and husbands have been to a great extent deserters, rather than let their condition be known to you, and if they have often pulled up with the sensation of freedom, that if it were not for you, they too would be deserters, and if you can by your love and tenderness restore them to their former health, you will be amply rewarded.

The following is part of a business letter; its testimony, though accompanying to the vital power, is written, flattering and renews the blood in a manner unknown to other remedies, and is worthy the attention of all who are afflicted with any disease of the blood, as to be within the reach of all. Its wonderful and truly marvelous cures have established its merits, and yet so perfectly adapted to the wants of the human system, that the leaves of its bottles are not sufficient for the greatest thanks of the grateful recipients, and why all nervous and debilitated persons will not try it, is a mystery to us, as it is so purely vegetable, and so harmless in its effects, and yet it is a powerful curative.

A compound entirely of vegetables, and those chemically combining powerful tonic and nourishing properties, and thus renewing and giving health and vitality to the blood.

Restorative Cordial.

The experience of thousands proves that no preparation ever before offered to the public has imparted of the vital energy, as has this compound. It has the power to positively curative in each of the following complaints:

DYSPEPSIA, DYSPEPSIA, LOSS OF APPETITE PAINTINESS, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, LANGUOR, GIDDINESS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

And all that class of diseases so fearfully fatal, called humor's, abscesses and irregularities.

THERE IS NOTHING EQUAL!

Kidney Diseases, Liver derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys, or any general derangement of the System.

It will not only cure the debility following CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from malaria, miasma, and cure the diseases at once.

EVERY family should have a bottle with them, as it will prove a safeguard against the numerous casualties to which they are liable, and a timely application of it may save many times its cost.

The BLOOD RENOVATOR is a certain cure for all diseases of the blood, and every one is a living witness to its virtues. Its curative powers are unequaled, and its effects are speedy and permanent. Its testimonials are unquestionable, and should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

Those who have not used it, for it is a perfect relief, after a month or two under the final trial, she will be found to be a perfect restorative, and a blessing to mankind.

Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator will give you the instant relief.

Sold by all Druggists. 444 Broadway, New York.

SUNDAY AND ITS SCENES.

The Muster and Inspection of Recruits.

700 MEN FULLY EQUIPPED.

Incidents and Excitements of the Day.

DEPARTURE OF TROOPS,

THE CLERGY ON THE CRISIS.

Sunday, usually well observed in our orderly quiet community, was a day of great stir and excitement as frequent and all parading. The war spirit, war news, and war preparations engrossed every thing. The day was throughout a scene of din and bustle, the streets thronged with eager spectators, and the rush being now here and now there as incidents called.

The chief point of interest, thronged all day, was on Wells street, between Lake and South Water, the Headquarters of Gen. Swift and the War Committee, where the most active operations were in progress, many willing hands pushing them forward. Rogers Fowler, has been appointed Commissary-General, and his department was thoroughly attended to. Camp equipage, blankets, tents, provisions were rapidly accumulated, sought out from all quarters of the city. The merchants in the trade for the lumber regions found their stock in demand, and express wagons traveled busily in all directions, bringing in the material to be so speedily the adjuncts of a soldier's life, to our Chicago troops.

THE INSPECTION.

At an early hour in the forenoon the muskets, rifles and carabines, of our various armories were placed in the hands of the volunteers, who thus armed were drawn up in line on Wells street, the right resting midway on the block between Lake and Randolph streets, in double rank, when Col. Baldwin entered upon his duties as Brigadier Inspector. Many of the arms were condemned at once, and given into the armorer's hands; others passable were examined, and directions given for their immediate preparation.

A large quantity of ammunition was prepared, both artillery and for muskets and rifles. The soldiers were equipped, supplied with five days' rations and with full ammunition chests, seven hundred troops left by the Illinois Central last evening. These companies are the LIGHT ARTILLERY, Capt. James Smith, 120 men, with six brass field pieces and two howitzers. The LINCOLN RIFLES, Capt. Michalosy, 84 men, a gallant corps of Hungarians, brimful of fight and liberty-loving to the death. Many of them saw service in '48, and the majority of them are well drilled soldiers. The "UNION CADETS," 84 men, made up from the German Turners and so excellent material for troops. Capt. Harding's Company of Infantry, 100 men.

THEIR DEPARTURE.

Many of these are fresh recruits, but going at once into camp, under competent drill masters, will come forward rapidly. They are a force worthy of our city, and will do their duty without flinching. The scene at the Illinois Central Railroad was a thrilling one as the hour of departure drew near. Parents grouped about to bid good bye to sons, wives to fare leave of husbands, sisters of brothers, lovers parted, friends exchanged farewells. It was bringing the war home closely to hearts and homes, the departure of soldiers from the immense concourse of spectators were profoundly moved, who gave them a parting cheer as the long train of 25 cars, drawn by two engines, moved slowly out along the pier.

The most active preparations will continue in enrolling and bringing into form the other companies, filled up, or newly organized, and within the next two or three weeks, by the time arms are secured, there will be upwards of twenty-five hundred volunteers ready in Chicago to serve their country wherever she may call.

About 6½ o'clock, Companies A, (Captain Harding), and Company B, (Captain Cityhourse), of Col. Scott's Zouave Regiment, left their Armory and marched to the Lake Shore Depot, where they embarked in the cars of the Ill. Central for their rendezvous appointed. A salute was fired by the Howitzer Corps attached to the Zouave Regiment. The other companies of the Regiment, ten in all, enrolling 1000 men, will be filled up within two weeks. One entire company, Captain Stockton commanding, was made up on Saturday, and was present at the National Hall Rally.

The troops that left last evening are under command of Gen. R. K. Swift of the 2nd. Brigade, and his staff, Col. Baldwin, Major Griffin, Maj. Osborne, and Col. J. B. Scott, commanding; Capt. J. D. Webster, Paymaster, Dr. Henry Wardner, Surgeon.

THE CLERGY ON THE CRISIS.

The churches were thronged by large audiences eager to hear how our clergy are meeting the crisis and the utterances of the pulpit upon the war. And these are with an exception such as establish our stiffest patriotism. Implore patriotic fire in our soldiers, and sends them forth to a holy conflict with the enemies of Freedom:

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Everts preached an able and patriotic discourse denouncing the traitors to the Government, who had plotted its ruin. Several sympathizers with the South rose and left the church, but the large audience were thrilled by the preacher's eloquence, which was outspoken for the Government and the laws.

At the same church in the evening a most affecting scene took place when three young men belonging to this church, now enlisted for the war in Capt. Barker's Dragoons were publicly referred to, and at the close of the service, leave was taken of them by the congregation. These soldiers were Theodore Rosse, Wm. McCausland, and Frank C Robinson. The leave-taking was most impressive.

SECOND UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Tuttle, and the Wesleyan Universalist Church, preached from the text, "He that is not for me is against me; he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abroad." In the course of a highly patriotic application, he said to the young men who had enrolled their names in the list of the defenders of the Constitution. "I almost envy you the crown which awaits you if you do your duty. I exhort you to never to come back till you have nailed that glorious old flag so high that no traitors shall ever reach it to pluck it thence."

JEFFERSON ST. M. E. CHURCH.

Rev Dr T. M. Eddy delivered an excellent and timely discourse of which the following is the close, in abstract:

I did not know faith as to the outcome. The struggle is long, so long and hard—we say ourselves. Months, if not years of struggle are before us, our trade may be interrupted, our ships may rot at our wharves, the loom may stand still, and the hum of industry be hushed by blood. We are no worthy descendants of patriots if we cannot endure all that, and more than all that. But for us, if we are faithful to the good principles which are involved in our position in this unhappy country, we shall have peace at last.

I believe this, because I am so sincere. I believe in the existence of God—a Special God—said in his Providential reign. Events above all things, and rules for the completion of his own grand designs.

I believe he designed this great Protestant people to accomplish a grand mission in the world, and that this mission cannot be filled by a provisionary power, or a people divided into two separate republics. The mission is to be accomplished by the whole of the United States.

I believe it, because I have faith in Northern virtue, courage, and endurance. The people are religious, but not fanatical yet. They can endure scorn and hot words. They are competent to many marches, and inhospitable bivouacs. When the time comes, they will not fail. They will not be conquered. They will vindicate the Union.

We cannot go back. We have done no wrong. We stand on the Rock of the Constitution and on the Declaration of Independence. Our Christianity forbids that we should secede. Our duty to posterity forbids our consent to the dismemberment of the Republic. Our love of liberty forbids that we should submit to the establishment of a despotism. Our love of God forbids that we should submit to the establishment of a government founded on human slavery. Our love of man forbids that we should submit to the establishment of a government founded on human slavery. Our love of man forbids that we should submit to the establishment of a government founded on human slavery. Our love of man
